

Please begin a review of communication towers and bird mortality rates. The communications industry should also fund a research program to identify tower placement, design, and lighting conditions that result in bird mortality. All existing towers should be assessed as to their placement and design with regard to migratory bird impacts. All proposed towers should undergo rigorous environmental reviews. Also, please implement immediate protections such as the guidelines for voluntary tower siting developed by the USFWS. Thank you.